

Kevin Andrezejewski is the Senior Program Manger for Engineers Without Borders's (EWB) Engineering Service Corps and has worked in International Development for the past 10 years. In this role Kevin works with EWB's seasoned members to manage client projects through partnerships with organizations like USAID, The IKEA Foundation and other NGOs. Projects vary from energy, agriculture, infrastructure, disaster response and climate resilience. Prior to EWB Kevin worked for iDE, an iNGO working with smallholder farmers, managing their Global Supply Chain for irrigation and agriculture technologies.

Kevin holds a MBA focusing on International Development and a BA in Supply Chain Management. Before his career in the International Development sector, Kevin worked on Supply Chains in the IT, Medical and Outdoor Recreation Industries.
