

Dear NAECON 2021 Virtual Conference Attendees,

It is our sincere pleasure to welcome you to the 2021 IEE National Aerospace & Electronics Conference (NAECON). 2021's Conference will be exploring new research and contributions for the next generation aerospace sensor integration with autonomy, artificial intelligence and machine learning.

As you make plans for the Conference, please take a moment to read the information below:

NOTE: Speakers/Presenters should have received specific join instructions for their presentation session from ARCTOS, who is managing the event. If you have not received your presentation join instructions, please contact Caroline Hale, caroline.hale@arctos-us.com. All attendees including presenters should follow the info below to connect to the virtual platform.

Virtual Attendee Information

Getting started with the App

Conference Access will be through the Conference Mobile App or its Desktop Web Version. The Sessions are best viewed on a computer or tablet; therefore, we highly recommend clicking on the "Access the Web App" link. Please click on the following to be directed to both mobile and web apps.

Once you have downloaded the App, you will be prompted to create an account.

ATTENDEES MUST USE THE EMAIL THEY USED TO REGISTER FOR THE CONFERENCE TO CREATE THEIR SOCIO ACCOUNT IN ORDER TO GAIN ACCESS INTO THE APP AND NAECON 2021 CONTENTS.

Once you have signed up, you'll want to build out your profile. Other event attendees will be able to see your profile and may wish to connect with you based on similar interests. We recommend adding a profile picture, as people are more likely to reach out to you and remember who you are with a photo!

You can view the Accessibility features and change the language, as well as view the terms of service. The left navigation bar has icons that take you to your Connections list, Messages with your Connections, and back to the home page.

About the Sessions and Presentations

Use the Agenda feature to review upcoming sessions and add them to your personal agenda by clicking + next to the Sessions you want to attend. Click on a session to see the full details, which can include a description or speakers. To access a Session, simply click on the session in the agenda at the appropriate time and the live stream will appear and start playing. You can ask questions or make comments anytime during the live stream by entering them into the chat on the left-hand side. You can access the Video Recordings of each session by going back to the session in the Agenda once the livestream for that session has been completed. In case you wanted to attend a couple of different concurrent sessions, you will be able to switch between sessions at any time.

Networking with Attendees

As we realize that networking is sometimes as important as the technical content at conferences, we encourage the use of the Social Wall on the App. The Attendees feature in the app allows you to see who else is in the app that you may wish to connect with. Click on a user to see their profile, and if you add a user, they'll receive a connection request. Once they accept the connection request, they'll be added to your Connections list, your profile information will be shared, and you can message them within the app.
